Subscription Campaign Provides Thrilling Contest in Final Hours of Campaign

Workers keyed up for final count—Campaign has been popular—Just a few more days are left to capture the Grand Prizes—It's anybody's race—Let's go.

CAMPAIGN CLOSES AT 9 P. M. SAT., SEPT. 2

Details of Final Count Published Today — Closing Hours in Charge of Disinterested Board — Ballot Box at Sackett & Taber Drug Store — New Subscription Points Figure in Final Hour.

There has been a rather sensational race between several of the leaders since the last count, which bears out the statement repeatedly made of the closeness of the race between several of the aggressive workers and they are going hard to break the deadlock that has existed for the past few weeks. The next three days will tell the story. The last big chance is still open.

With the leadership practically as uncertain as at the beginning of the campaign the popular drive is drawing to a sensational close. In just a few short days it will be all over but the shouting and the happy smiles of the winners and the good friends who have stood by them to the finish. For the last time the public is keen to know who the fortunate winners will be, especially the winner of the first prize, and for the last time we announce, there is no possible way of knowing until after the judges make the final count on Saturday, September 2. at 9 P. M.

Final Count By Advisory Board

The last office count of the campaign was made on all reports in the office up to 9 A. M. yesterday. Now the workers will make their final reports in the sealed ballot box placed in Sackett & Taber's Drug Store. Full details of the final count will be found on another page of this issue. The ballot box will be in charge of a selected board of disinterested citizens, who will make the final count. Names of the personnel of this board appear with the details of the final count. PROMPTLY AT 9 P. M., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, the Advisory Board will take the ballot box, break the seals, and the count will begin. It should take about an hour to run up the totals. Results will be announced at once. Only members of the Advisory Board and those connected with the business transactions of the Advertiser-Sentinel and campaign department will be permitted at the count. No telephone calls will be answered during the count.

Campaign Notes

For the last time the question is asked: "Who will be the winner of the first prize?"

Many questions have been asked in reference to the publishing or announcing the point standings of the workers up to this time. All counts of the campaign show, only the correct relative position of the workers. The points shown are only approximate, and of an amount great enough to hold the position shown. This plan is used to insure fair competition, in not exposing the actual strength or weakness of any worker.

No one can afford to weaken in the knees at this critical stage of the race. Watch out for idle rumors. You can easily trip up on some foolish story started for nothing more than a joke or by somebody with an axe to grind.

Only a few short days now and this campaign will be a matter of history. We have done our best to be fair and impartial and we trust there will be nothing but pleasant memories left of its short life and exciting close and we especially hope that this may be the case with the workers with whom we have exchanged pleasantries. We take this opportunity of thanking each and everyone for their efforts in the campaign.

Harmony Prevails at School Board Session Tuesday Evening

Board meets and all business transacted in less than hour — Change time of afternoon sessions — Approve calendar of 192 school days—Hear recommendations as to boilers—Audits bills.

The second meeting of the newly elected Board of Education met Tuesday night adopted the new schedule for the coming school year, voted to start school during the noon hour at 12:50, heard the recommendations of the boiler inspectors relative to school boilers, audited bills and passed a resolution to borrow money to pay current bills and salaries from the Addison bank in anticipation of taxes.

Those present at the meeting were President Maurice E. Miller, Trustees Andrew Knebel, William Pepper, Dr. Horace E. Auringer, Miss Fannie Curtis, Clark Baxter and Robert Willson.

Attorney Charles L. Crane appeared before the board relative to the appearance of the old grammar school grounds.

Mr. Knebel of the printing committee reported he had secured a favorable price on printed school cards from the Elkland Journal and the bid for the work was accepted by the board.

Faculty Appointed

Principal Irving R. Gladstone brought to the attention of the board the fact that the state department recommends faculty supervision of extra-curricular funds. Mr. Knebel moved that Mr. Gladstone be appointed faculty counselor, Bernard Wilson will be central treasurer for all extra-curricular activities and that Miss Doris Everingham of the commercial department be faculty auditor.

Opening Hour Changed

Mr. Gladstone said the school had been opened for afternoon sessions at 1 p. m. during the past year. Some classes in music and physical education begin at 12:30 to promote extra-curricular activities. During this time other students in the building are wandering around and interfering with this work. He suggested that school begin at 12:50 each day for the afternoon session. Then those who have music or physical education will be doing their work and other students will have study classes.

The plan has been approved by members of the high school faculty in an informal poll last June. Grade school teachers have not been approached. They get out earlier at noon and so should not be affected by the change. It will work a slight hardship on those from far away, but most of these students bring lunches. The board gave permission to try the plan. There will be a faculty meeting Monday night to discuss the plan further.

Calendar Approved

The calendar for the coming year was approved. This provides for 192 school days. It is printed in a separate column so it may be clipped by parents and students for their guidance durin gthe year.

The $20,000 bond posted by Robert Apgar as treasurer for the school district was approved and signed by the members of the board.

Boiler Changes

Three recommendations made by the boiler inspectors include the alternate use of boilers to prevent pitting in the one boiler constantly used, use of feed heaters in the boilers and welding around the man hole of one boiler. They recommended the replacing of flues which has already been done.

Small bills against the school will be paid by Principal Gladstone, who in turn will be reimbursed by the Board at monthly meetings.

The board will borrow $2,500 for paying current bills and expenses. The tax monies and state aid will not be received until January. There are some unpaid taxes still outstanding. Clerk Mrs. Florence Newman was granted postage money for the coming year.

Tourist Traffic Heavy in Village Few Stops Here

Tourist traffic has been heavy through Addison and over Route 17 this summer, in fact actual counts show that there are more cars on the road, traveling, than ever before in the past few years.

There is some complaint from local merchants, inn keepers and gas service stations over the lack of expected business. Some places were renovated in anticipation of a large business influx due to the World's Fair. This has failed to materialize, although some nearby cabin and tourist places have reported good business.

The cars seem to whiz right along, getting their gas and oil and the occupants getting their lunches and souvenirs elsewhere. Not all go straight through, for some stop here, but not the anticipated number. The cars are everything from Packards and Pierce Arrows to Jalopies. Many have trailers.

As an indication of what is happening, the writer noted cars from outside the county for an hour's period as he went about his calls Tuesday with the following result. Cars were noted with the following licenses: L, H, Georgia, Texas, C, W, a state car, Pa., 2 from Ohio in succession, E, Michigan, Q, Pa., Illinois, Michigan, B, Massachusetts, M, Michigan W, two Illinois in succession, Virginia, B, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Connecticut and Oklahoma.

THE ASSEMBLY CAMPAIGN

The primary race for the Republican nomination for member of assembly has lately come to life after several weeks of Rip Van Winkle sleep. This new life has been instilled into an otherwise drab contest by the entrance of the Addison young man, Hugh Varn, into the race, making a three-cornered affair out of what had promised to be an unexciting event.

As a candidate for the state office Mr. Varn has much to recommend him to the voters in this rural community. He obtained his education for the law profession in the hard way, overcoming obstacles wholly unknown by boys and girls born with silver spoons in their mouths. Hence it is quite natural his sympathies have always remained definitely with the under dog, for which he has never been afraid to fight regardless of the fact such a fight might bring some personal unpopularity.

Mr. Varn regards the farmers as the especial under dogs of this generation. A few years ago he bought a hill farm near Addison which he has worked, not in the sense of a gentleman's hobby, but rather as a real dirt farmer. In this way he has become personally conscious of the real problems facing New York farmers today, problems which eventually must be solved by men who know them through actual contact instead of by theory alone.

The Addison man is making a spirited campaign for the nomination. On several occasions he has expressed his views to groups of voters and he stated recently it was his plan to give talks through the remainder of the campaign which would enlighten the voters as to his stand on various issues. Voters will welcome the fact the lethargy which marked the early weeks of the campaign has now been broken since Mr. Varn entered the race.

RECOGNIZE LOCAL FARMERS

In a recent issue of the American Agriculturist H. E. Babcock of Ithaca comments on the drouth problems in his column "Kernels, Screenings and Chaff."

Mr. Babcock's article was brought to our attention by one of our readers in Jasper who heartily agrees with the following words:

"The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation is today the owner of millions of bushels of grain, largely corn, upon which it made one-way loans to farmers. Another enormous corn crop is on its way. Presumbably something will have to be done to market the surplus. There are indications that any foreign people can come to the United States and buy cotton and corn at figures substantially under the domestic market.

Meanwhile the poultrymen and the dairymen of the Northeast need feed badly. Common justice would seem to indicate that, before the Federal government dumps a lot of corn abroad, it might well give serious consideration to furnishing some feed at bargain prices to drouth stricken Northeastern farmers. Perhaps the two-price system which is claimed to be working so successfully in the distribution of surplus foods in cities might be adapted to placing several million bushels of corn on Northeastern farms".

The editor of this paper has long thought charity should begin at home when it comes to disposal of the abundant surplus of many commodities which have become a plague to those who would regulate agriculture. We have heard much during the past few years about the underfed and underprivileged, yet the number has not been decreased by the talk.

What Mr. Babcock wishes to see done in the case of corn we have advocated in these columns for wider distribution of milk. During the time when farmers of the state have felt the keenest pinch of distress because of a milk surplus which hammered down price thousands of folks have not been getting the milk they needed for health and nourishment. This goes for folks in the country as well as in the city. Meanwhile thousands of cases of evaporated milk are distributed to welfare people—milk produced in Wisconsin or Missouri and sent East into the heart of the New York milkshed.

While the government is distributing surplus agricultural products milk should not be forgotten. Free milk could be distributed to the needy with purchases of milk by those eligible for it while there was a surplus. Farmers could be paid a lower price for this milk than for the fluid milk which was sold at the regular price and dealers would have to handle it for a low handling charge.

We believe like Mr. Babcock that eastern farmers should get a break as well as farmers in other parts of the country and residents of the far corners of the earth.

CONGRESS AND ECONOMY

It is a curious paradox that the last Congress appropriated even more money than its big-spending predecessor—yet has come in for considerable praise for its activities in the direction of economy.

The paradox is understandable. For, toward the closing weeks of the session, Congress, obviously appalled by the swiftness with which the national debt is approaching the $45,000,000,000 legal limit, finally put its foot down. It sharply reduced WPA expenditures, pared appropriations proposed in the "self-liquidating" spending bill, all along the line, and otherwise showed its belief that the time for some retrenchment was at hand.

The common forecast now is that the next session of Congress will go a great deal farther in the direction of a balanced budget. If it does, the lawmakers will really earn the plaudits of the nation. For no one can deny that the growing debt, which carries with it the inevitability of more and higher taxes on top of today's crushing burdens, is a major factor in holding business back.

In brief, the last Congress made a start. It is the duty of the next Congress to go on from there, and really achieve something beside more and bigger deficits. The spending spree this country has been indulging in has never before been witnessed in world history.

AMERICA'S FOREIGN POLICY

The people of the United States do not want any part in any war. That can be asserted as a definite, unchallengeable statement of fact.

The people of the United States, as a whole, consider the quarrels of European nations with each other as no concern of ours. That is also a positive statement of fact.

The people of the United States are bitterly resentful of Japan's armed invasion of China, but are far from being convinced that it is our duty, therefore, to go to war with Japan.

The people of the United States are, on the whole, sympathetic with the European democracies, especially Britain and France, in any struggle to maintain the human liberties which we, also cherish, in case those liberties are threatened from without. But the people of the United States are far from being convinced that those liberties, so far, are threatened; nor do most Americans believe that a threat to them is a threat to our own liberties.

The people of the United States are in pretty general agreement that the conquest and colonization of any part of the American continent by any European or other foreign power might constitute a threat to our liberties, or at least require action on our part to defend the invaded country, not in their particular interest but in our own. That is the essence of the Monroe doctrine.

The people of the United States believe that our surest protection against being drawn into any war is to build up our Navy, Air Force and Army to a point of efficiency where no other nation would dare to make war against us.

The people of the United States believe that the less we meddle with foreign affairs and the more attention we pay to our own, the better off we will be, war or no war.

The foregoing statements we believe to be as accurate a picture of the average American citizen's views on war as can be put on paper. In a government of, by and for the people, they ought to be the guiding principle of the nation's foreign policy.

FIRE IN THE FOREST

"Be careful of fire in the forest, lest a spark should lay waste the treasure of the generations", says an editorial in the Portland Oregonian. "The time of danger is here again . . . It is true that not all forest fires are started by careless vacationists—perhaps no more than a minor fraction of them—but were the forests miraculously restored that have been destroyed by vacationists the green area of them would be vast.

"It is best not to smoke as you pass through the friendly forest, but if you must smoke be sure that the match is out, and that the ember of the cigarette is extinguished. Be careful even to what may seem absurdity—for there can be no absurdity in such precautions . . . Put out your camp fire. With water. To the last spark. You have to be careful of fire in the forest . . .

"You are only one of us who is seeking the comfort and coolness, the green recreation, of the living and beautiful forest. It is your forest. It is the bequest of happiness and health and healing you should leave to your children's children. How cruel a thing it must seem if your love for the forest is the unwitting instrument that makes of it a pillar of smoke by day, of flame by night. Be very careful of fire in the forest. It is that time of the year again".

That eloquent message should be remembered. And be careful, too, of fire in the fields, in your home—anywhere you may go. It takes but a little thought, a little effort. And it pays magnificent dividends—to you, to everyone else, and to posterity.

Fresh Tomatoes on Markets

A Cinderella among vegetables a century ago, now one of the most important truck crops in the United States. That's the success story of the tomato.

Fresh, home-grown tomatoes are now on the markets. They are welcome additions, says the New York State College of Home Economics, because of their palatability, the variety of their usefulness, and their high nourishing value. When it comes to supplying food value, the tomato almost spans the vitamin alphabet.

It is best to buy vegetables and fruits in season, for usually the quality is best and the price lowest when the locally-grown product is on the market. Tomatoes, as well as other vegetables, should be used as soon as possible after gathering.

Many appetizing ways of serving tomatoes, either cooked or raw, are known and used by homemakers. Raw tomatoes, either sliced or stuffed, make delicious salads, and they add much to mixed vegetable salads. They may also be baked, plain or stuffed with bread stuffings, shrimp, crab, sweetbreads, chicken, or leaft-over meat.

Tomatoes are easier to can at home than most vegetables because they are acid foods. For that reason they need not be processed in a steam pressure canner; a hot water bath will do. Select firm, ripe tomatoes, medium in size, and free from decay for canning. Many homemakers, too, will put up part of their canning tomatoes as juice for use next winter.

This Week in Washington

—When former President Hoover took occasion to call Senator Barkley to task for his statement about the growth of the National Debt during the last Republican Administration, it was taken in some quarters in Washington as an intimation that Mr. Hoover was setting the stage for his own nomination for the Presidency next year.

In all informed political quarters it was considered as at least notice to anybody concerned that the former President is keeping a very close eye on national political affairs, and may be expected to have a good deal to say about the Republican candidate for 1940.

Inquiring reporters who have gone out from Washington to see Mr. Hoover at his home in Palo Alto, California, have come back with reports indicating that they believe the former President to be a receptive but not so far an active candidate.

The impression seems to be that he definitely will take an active hand in pre-convention politics, at any rate, and unless the probable nominee is someone of whom he approves, he may take advantage of his growth in personal popularity in the past seven years to throw his own hat into the ring.

Coming from one observer who has had exceptional opportunities to talk with the former President on the 1940 race, the belief is put forth that he does not want to run or serve again, though he is physically active and mentally fit as most men much younger than his own 65 years.

This same observer came back from Palo Alto with the belief that Mr. Hoover is, to put it mildly, not enthusiastic over Senator Vandenberg of Michigan as the party's choice for the head of the ticket; that he likes and admires Thomas E. Dewey of New York very much indeed and wishes he were a few years older and had a record of successful administration as an executive behind him; and that he has a great deal of respect for the ability of Senator Taft of Ohio, coupled with the belief that he would command the respect of the country at large once he got into the campaign.

Hoover's Position

In short, the nearest to "feed-box information" about the former President's position in respect of 1940 is that he would consider a ticket headed by Senator Taft, with District Attorney Dewey as his running mate, as about the best and most popular ticket the Republicans have to offer, and that while he would somewhat reluctantly consent to be drafted if such a ticket cannot be nominated, Mr. Hoover doesn't want the job of being President again. He knows too much about its difficulties.

In view of all of the reports cited here about Mr. Hoover's position, it seems clear to Washington politicians that he will have a great deal to say in Republican party affairs. Contrary to a general impression, he is not only on good terms with Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican National Committee but believes that Mr. Hamilton is doing a very good job of uniting conflicting elements in the party, despite serious lack of funds with which to work.

Dewey's Candidacy

The Dewey candidacy is, thus far, being promoted publicly chiefly in his native state of Michigan, by the people of his old home town of Owosso, where the family doctor who officiated at his birth is honorary president of the Dewey-for-President Club.

Whether Dewey heads the ticket will depend largely upon the impression he makes when he begins his speech-making campaign in the course of the next month or so. Dewey's friends are confident that once he begins to talk to the public, directly or on the air, there will be a great popular wave of enthusiasm for the handsome, courageous and eloquent young man who came so near to being elected Governor of New York last year.

News out of Michigan does not indicate any worry on the part of that state's other favorite son, Senator Arthur Vandenberg. His campaign is well under way, with headquarters in the leading hotel of Mr. Vandenberg's home town of Grand Rapids. Vandenberg clubs are being organized all over the state, to promote his re-election to the Senate and at the same time delegates are being corralled for his nomination for the Presidency. As there is no other Michigan Republican in the field, the outlook is for a solid Vandenberg delegation.

With the Democrats

On the Democratic side there are only two active and avowed Presidential candidates so far, and one of them will withdraw from the race if the President chooses to run for a third term. With the field clear for him, however, Paul McNutt is regarded by Washington observers and reported by scouts who have been scouring the mid-west, as certain to have the solid Indiana delegation in the Democratic National Convention, and a very good chance of forming a bloc of delegates taking in all the states east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio.

Addison Loses to Caton and Lindley Outplays Gang Mills

Little Six play-off games at Corning Sunday upset for both losers—Many arguments—Hurd is injured in eye—Many extra base hits noted in the Addison-Caton game.

Addison will have to play a third game with Caton in the Little Six League and Lindley will oppose Gang Mills Sunday in games to be played in Lawrenceville as a result of two upsets in Corning Sunday afternoon. Addison lost to Caton 15 to 14 and Lindley considerably upset Gang Mills, league leaders, by winning 16 to 2.

In the Addison game the locals led through most of the game and went into the seventh inning on the top side of the score by six runs and then the barrage began and Louie Dominick, who had pitched good ball to that point allowed seven hits of which three were three-baggers. He was given no relief in the barrage and was left on the mound to "take it". When the storm cleared the winners had tallied seven runs and the game. The scores were made with only one out.

The game was marked with much discussion and Art Hurd, first baseman for the Caton nine, was injured in the eye and required medical treatment. It is probable that he will be out of the game for the balance of the season.

The game was a free hitting contest for both teams. The field was hard and level and if an infielder or outfielder missed the ball or could not get near it, it rolled for extra base hits for the runners.

Other evidences of bad judgment as seen from a spectator's point of view were made by the Addison management, but it is hoped that these will be ironed out this week and that the team will go into this third game and trim Caton. There is always hard feeling between these teams in the excitement of a game and this feeling makes a good game for the spectators. With this in mind a large delegation of baseball fans from Addison and vicinity will accompany the Merchants to Lawrenceville Sunday to cheer for Addison and victory.

Under the old two-thirds rule of Democratic conventions, which was abrogated in 1936, Washington believes that Vice-President Garner could build and hold a bloc of delegates sufficiently large to beat McNutt. But Democratic nominations now are made by a majority of the delegates instead of two-thirds, a fact which works to the advantage of Mr. Roosevelt or of any candidate he favors, such as Mr. McNutt, and to the disadvantage of Mr. Garner.

The Vice President is keeping his mouth tightly closed on the subject of his own candidacy. Throughout Texas, however, his friends are working openly.

Many Old Neighbors Gather For Hedgesville Old Home Day Sat.

A large crowd of old neighbors and newer residents attended the Old Home Day celebration at Hedgesville last Saturday. Included in the group were many former residents of the community who had not been back there in years. The gathering was sponsored by the Presbyterian Church and ladies of the church served dinner at noon in the Grange hall.

One of the features of the day was a fantastic parade which opened the festivities of the afternoon. The parade was led by a fife and drum corp with Alvah Allen the fifer, proceeding from the church through what was once the bustling business section of the village. Included in the parade were characterizations of Father Time, a Princess in a sedan chair, a Hot-air Laundry operated by A. Gasbug (colored), a Roman chariot, the Sleeping Beauty, a float representing Hedgesville night life, a saw rig in operation, clowns and costume characters. Grant Stone, master-of-ceremonies, addressed the crowd with a typical "fireside chat" portraying a fovorite presidential role at the conclusion of the parade.

The crowd then adjourned to the church where the indoor program was given. Assemblyman William Stuart was the principal speaker, giving a picture of Hedgesville as he remembered it years ago. He expressed the hope that war might be averted, comparing the horror of modern warfare with the more humane practices forty years ago.

"In the Spanish American War", the Assemblyman stated, "when one of the Spanish warships started to sink American seamen began to cheer. But the Admiral hushed them with the words, 'Don't cheer boys, the poor fellows are dying'. Today the modern army is taught to exult at the death cries of a foe. Formerly when an attack was planned on a city women and children were warned to flee for their lives, but today planes sneak up under cover of darkness to hurl bombs on the unprotected innocents . . .

"I have promised not to discuss politics", Mr. Stuart said. "But I cannot refrain from calling your attention to the legalized gambling amendment coming up this fall. You should vote it down. It was sneaked through for submission to the voters by means of a political trick and the decent people of the state must reject it at the polls unless we are to have all restraint from legalized gambling removed".

The Rev. A. S. Taylor, pastor of the Hedgesville Church, acted as chairman of the meeting. Among those who gave short talks to the group were George Bouton, Alvah Allen, Frank Lewis, Mrs. Nellie Perry Stratton, William Robinson, Rupert Smith, Elroy Hannahs and Alma Allen. Included in the program were a memorial prayer by the Rev. Frank G. Lewis of Canisteo and a roll call of local schools in the 1880's. Memories of Minnie B. Newell, teacher during this period led to a motion to circulate a paper for signatures of her former pupils to be mailed to her.

At the business session the following officers were elected: President, James Bouton; vice presidents, Kenneth Pawling, Floyd Fenton and the Rev. A. S. Taylor; secretary, Genieva Pawling.

A map of Hedgesville about 1875, obtained through the courtesy of Minnie B. Newell of Horseheads proved very interesting.

Later in the afternoon a ball game was played by teams chosen for the occasion. A dance in the evening in the Grange Hall was well attended.

Among those present were Walter L. Buck and Walter W. Buck of Osceola, Pa.; Doris Perry of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. John Vromon of Detroit, Mich.; William Mack of Westfield, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Norris of Genesee, Pa.

Old Weatherby Ledger of 1816 Reveals Much

Town Clerk George Weatherby has come into a ledger book which was kept by his grandfather the late Dan Weatherby, who conducted a tavern on East Front Street near the present R. E. Smith house. Across from this street there was a blacksmith shop conducted by a family by the name of Lyons. The hotel later passed to a Doolittle family and burned to the ground about 60 years ago.

According to this old ledger, dated 1816 business was good in those days and labor was cheap and a man could quench his thirst at small cost.

The book was brought to light in the barn of the Louis Davis House, now owned by Leon J. Calahan When the barn was being torn down to make way for a garage, the torn and tattered book was found. Its pages are beginning to fade and its cover to show the signs of its 119 years of life as the repository for facts of the past.

Incidentally this Mr. Weatherby married a cousin of the late Alton B. Parker, who was one time a candidate fo rthe presidency of the United States.

Some of the figures in the ledger show that whiskey could be bought for 20 cents per quart or three cents per glass. Men working about the place were paid $3.12 for five days work and another part time worker received $1.25 for two days work.

Much material was taken in trade at the hotel as people from the vicinity bartered a night's lodging and meal for produce. Sheep, cow and other hides were taken as well as vegetables and produce.

A night's lodging cost 12 or 13 cents and a meal about the same. Pairs of shoe taps were traded in for 36 cents and tobacco was rated at 20 cents the pound, this being before the days of government taxation.

Tuesday night the locals will entertain the Tam-O-Shanter squad of Corning and Elmira in a contest on the high school diamond at 6:45 o'clock. KNOW YOUR LAW

By Carroll E. Mealey, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

(Editor's Note: Below are presented some questions and answers on the subject of the Vehicle and Traffic Law and rules of the road. Readers are invited to submit questions to Information Service, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Albany, N. Y.)

* * *

Q. If a person oserves a motorist violating the law, for example, by passing through a red light, can he report this action to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles?

A. Yes He must, however, furnish the registration number of the vehicle, the exact violation, together with the date, time and location of the incident.

Q. What action is taken by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles?

A. On receipt of the complaint, the alleged offender is forwarded a letter of warning. The complainant's name is not divulged by the Bureau. A letter of acknowledgement together with a copy of the letter of warning is sent to the person who made the complaint. The complaint is then recorded against the personal operating record of the registrant for reference regarding any future accidents or violations.

Q. Does the Bureau take the same action in cases where complaints of a serious nature, such as driving while intoxicated or leaving the scene of an accident, are received?

A. No. In cases where one motorist prefers charges of a serious nature pertaining to any violation of the Vehicle and Traffic Law, against another, he is advised by the Bureau to obtain a summons for the offender to appear in court. This is necessary since the Bureau is not vested with any enforcement powers. The person against whom the complaint is registered however, is immediately notified by the Bureau that the alleged offense has been entered against his record.

We believe that the Republican voters of Steuben County should nominate Leo Kduze of Arkport for Sheriff of Steuben County, because he is qualified for that office by his extensive training in the Sheriff's work, actual experience and executive ability.—Adv.

Alfred Carillon Concerts Begin September 8

Regular concerts on the Davis Memorial Carillon at Alfred University will begin Friday, September 8, at 7:30 instead of September 1, as was originally planned. Professor Ray W. Wingate, the regular carillonneur, will be playing the Riverside Carillon in New York City and the Belgian Carillon at the World's Fair on the earlier date. He has been on his vacation during August.

The Friday evening concerts will be offered at 7:30 until October 29 when the earlier hour, 5:30 will be adopted for the winter months. All Sunday afternoon concerts are given at 3:00 and will continue through the school year except for two Sundays during the spring vacation. All programs are daylight saving time while that is in force.

During the past two years Professor Wingate has given nearly 200 recitals on the Davis Memorial Carillon and now has almost 300 selections arranged for the 35 bells.

Many persons come 50 to 100 miles quite regularly. Some claim they have not missed a Sunday recital in two years. On fine days it is quite common to see from 30 to 50 car loads of visitors; often 100 cars may be counted during the hour. At a special concert early in August when Jacq Vermaak of The Netherlands was guest carillonneur 150 cars of listeners attended the afternoon program.

This Week In Sports

Addison dropped a game to Caton 15 to 14, Sunday on Pyrex Park diamond in the Little Six League. Home runs were the order of the day owing to the hard, flat diamond which enabled batters to place grounders for long rolls. Sunday's game at Lawrenceville between these two teams will tell the story of which is to enter the league championships.

Incidentally Lindley pulled a fast one on Gang Mills by beating them 16 to 2. Lindley just could not be stopped.

—o—

The New York Yankees remain way out in front in the American League and last week increased their lead to over 11 games with the Bostonians being in second place. In the National League Cincinnati still dominates the scene but not by as comfortable a margin as two weeks ago for they are only four and one-half games ahead.

He illustrated the methods used by himself, Singing Sammy Bough, Bo McMillan and Sid Luckman. They all throw different passes but accomplish the same results.

Babe Ruth will be in his element with the kids Saturday at the World's Fair as referee of a baseball field day for boys under 18 in four age classes. There will be throwing baseball for distance, running the bases, throwing to second for accuracy and fungo hitting.

The Rambler

The bench in front of the Harry Laffkas & Son store is gone. It is sorely missed by the many who make use of its refreshing comforts at various times during the day and night. A certain manager of a local milk station is being accused of hiding it for he sits in his car and watches the discomfort of those who have not the use of the bench now.

—o—

Organizations of Addison and vicinity are resuming activities for the coming year. May I ask the secretaries to communicate with the Advertiser office and have all special events placed on the community calendar to prevent conflicts of major happenings in the community during the coming year. The calendar is made possible by the Advertising Club of Addison.

—o—

School resumes here Tuesday and also in most of the schools in the Advertiser-Sentinel parish. In talking with some of the young people I find them anxious to get back to school. Others, going into new grades with different teachers, feel reluctant to make the change. How I envy the boys and girls as I see them going along and wishing "again for the days of my youth". They are having opportunities for learning of many things that were considered too advanced for us when we were in school.

—o—

The heat is on! Yep, Folks, the last days of the circulation campaign for circulation for this paper are under way. An impartial committee of judges has been selected to take care of the interests of the contestants. No one knows this week who is ahead nor who will be when the secret ballot box is opened Saturday night. This is the last week and a great deal of work is being done by the contestants.

Stork parties, showers, forewell parties and the like are nice ways of showing the recipient that he or she is liked and it also has a very utilitarian use in providing some things that may be needed.

—o—

The pleasures of sleeping outdoors are many fold as those who have slept out can tell you. I have noticed several of the young men about the village occupying various porches, front and back, during the past few weeks and taking advantage of the fresh air.

—o—

During the past few weeks in Addison and thousands of similar towns and cities former residents have been returning to renew acquaintances and friendships. However, I have noticed that many of them visit some relative or friend and maybe two or three, but when they want to go downtown they get in a car, ride down for what they want and return home. I think they miss something of the old home town in not walking downtown, lingering in the post offices, stores and other gathering places. Then they can get the "feel" of the town and people again.

—o—

In the death of Mrs. Belle Ammerman, the Rambler feels keenly the loss of this kindly woman. When I first came to Addison I wrote the obituary of her husband, the late George Ammerman. In various conversations with her since that time I have learned through what troubles she struggled and what a "game fighter" she was in the face of adversity. It made me feel that any little troubles I might and may have were picayune. Once wealthy and then the depression and everything gone, yet able to face life and fight on. Now she is gone and there is no living relative to mourn her, in itself a tough circumstance.

—o—

The smallness of the world is amply illustrated many times when one travels about. An example came to my attention this week in a card from my sister who is in New York attending the World's Fair and at the Aquacade, which seats 12,000 people, she sat next to a fellow from Addison. She is not from this section.

—o—

One of the fellows in the office who attended the State Fair at Syracuse praised the fair but said that it was apparently suffering from the effects of the World's Fair based on the usual exhibits and the smaller attendance than usual.

—o—

It certainly was a pleasure to go to a Board of Education meeting Tuesday night and know that every thing was peaceful and calm. I hope the sessions continue that way, for while discussions make better news copy, it is not well for the morale of the board or of the students in school.

Public Service Commission Announces Gas Price Change

Albany, Aug. 29—The Public Service Commission has allowed the Addison Gas & Power Company and Allegany Gas Company to file revisions to their tariff schedules which will save customers of the two utilities approximately $1,300 annually. The new schedules will go into effect September 1.

The Addison Gas & Power Company serves consumers in the village of Addison, Steuben County. Four hundred and ten customers of that company will benefit from the decreased rates.

The Allegany Gas Company serves consumers in the towns of Corning and Caton, Steuben County, and town of Southport, Chemung County. The decreased rates filed by that company will affect 229 customers.

The savings indicated for the Addison Gas Company customers will be approximately $600 annually while the customers of the Allegany Gas Company will benefit to the extent of about $700 per annum.

The new rates under the classification contined in the new schedule are as follows:

Rate per month per thousand cubic feet, net: First 1,000 cu. ft. 88c, next 3,000 cu. ft. 65c, Over 4,000 cu. ft. 60c. Minimum charge per month, net 88c.

The Silent But Active Hours Of The Ballot Box Bringing Either Victory or Defeat

ADDISON
ADVERTISER - SENTINEL
$750 PRIZE
Subscription Campaign

When the Judges Announce the Final Score—There Can Be No Doubt

Details of the Final Count

In order to maintain absolute secrecy as to the stading of each worker, the last four days of the Advertiser-Sentinel Subscription Campaign will be brought to a close under a sealed ballot box.

No subscriptions will be accepted through the campaign department after 9 P. M., Tuesday, August 29. Instead, workers will deposit their collections in the SEALED BALLOT BOX. By doing so, NO ONE, not even the campaign management or the publishers, can possibly know the point strength of the respective workers, which precludes any possible chance of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.

WORKERS REPORTING BY MAIL should address their letters for the Ballot Box (care of Advertiser-Sentinel, Addison, N. Y.) to be opened by Advisory Board only. Great care should be taken to be sure mail arrives for Ballot Box before the judges place the Final Seal, 9 P. M., Saturday, September 2. IT IS BEST TO MAKE FINAL DEPOSITS IN PERSON.

Sealed the Ballot Box will be placed in Sackett & Taber's Drug Store, where it will remain until 9 P. M., Saturday, September 2, and will be in charge of the Advisory Committee until the last point is counted.

When the final moment arrives, the judges will take the box in charge and the seals will be broken and immediately the count will begin, adding the ballot reports to the points earned by each worker. The winners will be determined by the grand total of points, and announced as soon as determined. No waiting, no complications. The official count should be made in one hour's time.

The count will be made in private, the Board, only those necessary with the business transaction of the campaign department and the Addison Advertiser being present with the Board. No telephone calls answered during the count.

Results of the count will be announced by bulletin immediately after the count is finished. Presentation of prizes will take place immediately after the count.

Advisory Board

It is the sincere aim of this newspaper to conduct this campaign from start to finish in a fair, honorable and impartial manner. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the interests of the participants, and absolute honesty in all dealings is guaranteed.

However, not all wisdom lies within one man or institution, and for that reason an Advisory Board has been decided upon, whose function shall be to decide any questions of sufficient moment that might happen or arise during the competition and from which a committee shall be selected as judges and count the points the last day of the campaign.

The Personnel of This Board is:

American Boy Magazine Companion to Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum", writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school baseball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY".

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michican

WHO CREATES CREDIT?

The suggestion has often been made that banks should "create more credit".

The truth is that a bank is only one of the parties necessary to the creation of credit.

The other is a worthy borrower, able to employ bank funds profitably and to repay them when due.

This bank has money to lend. It is anxious to make sound loans. If you wish to borrow, we will welcome your application.

Sportsmanship and Political Campaigns

In schools as low as those of the grammar type Americans are taught the value of 'fair play' and good sportsmanship in all games. High school training continues to cultivate this quality and elaborate it to the extent that upon graduation each member is aware that in all competitive human relationship a true victory depends on that criterion—fair play. To do otherwise indicates not only the lack of honor but either the lack of the proper training of the individual or the failure of the person to recall and practice former instruction. The latter indicates a deficiency in the intelligence of the individual.

An outstanding example of this failure to show good sportsmanship can be observed in the current campaign for sheriff revealing the character of one opponent who believes in victory at any cost financial or honorable. Small deeds reveal this to be true. When a candidate's money is at stake that is his business but when he encroaches on the rights of other candidates, that is the business of us who vote and desire responsible offices to be filled by responsible men. Surely one candidate who seeks to destroy the campaign publicity of another candidate has neither the honor nor intelligence to be responsible. Such unfair play indicates clearly the inability of the individual to have learned one of the most drilled lessons in our American schools. It reveals sheer mental deficiency.

Thus, you who are republican voters, please consider wisely the man whom you desire to nominate for the office of sheriff. We have too few criteria to judge such men by as it is but surely GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP should be one of these.

H. E. Dascomb.

Lime Program Offered Steuben County Farmers

Leon Andrews is holding open office in the court room of the Addison Village Hall for those farmers who wish to secure free lime under the Soil Conservation program. Those who have signed up under the program may apply until six o'clock Saturday night, and if the demand is great enough, Mr. Andrews will keep the office open next week, he told a representative of this paper Tuesday.

The limestone for Southern Steuben County comes from Michigan.

A recent provision of the Agricultural Conservation Program makes lime available to Steuben farmers for a cash outlay of fifty cents per ton.

The quantity of lime that any farmer may receive is determined by the amount of soil building allowance of his particular farm, and the maximum allotment is to be twenty tons. The lime is to be applied before October 31.

Farmers not now participating may obtain this lime by enrolling in the Agricultural Conservation Program. Cooperators who have not used the total amount of their soil building allowance are also eligible.

Stations Established

Orders are to be placed at the following stations beginning Monday, August 28 and ending September 2. For the towns of Greenwood, Jasper, Hartsville, Canisteo, West Union and Troupsburg at the Canisteo Grange Hall.

Farmers of Dansville, Fremont, Hornell and Howard will go to Fremont Town Hall; Cohocton and Wayland townships at Atlanta Firemen's Hall.

Bath, Cameron, Campbell, Thurston, Wheeler and Avoca will go to the 3rd floor Farmers' & Mechanics' Bank Building, Bath. Addison, Rathbone, Tuscarora and Woodhull townships are served at Addison Town Hall.

Headquarters for towns of Caton, Corning, Lindley, Erwin and Hornby will be the Painted Post Town Hall. Farmers of Bradford, Urbana and Wayne at Hammondsport Town Hall on August 29, 30 and for Prattsburg and Pulteney at Prattsburg Town Hall August 31, September 1, and 2.

The offices will operate from 9 to 5. Orders must be placed before October 1 for lime to be applied under the 1939 program. A similar arrangement will be in effect in the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program, officials state.

FROM A GRANGER

An open letter to all Grangers in Steuben County:

We now have an opportunity to elect another brother Granger to the office of sheriff. Mr. Balcom opposed our District Deputy three years ago for that office. Mr. Balcom was told by one of our committee that the Grange would support their Deputy and asked him to cooperate with the Grange. Mr. Balcom showed good sportsmanship, did not withdraw his name from ballot but did cooperate in every way. We can now show our appreciation to Mr. Balcom and elect an able official to the office of sheriff.

The writer of this letter has been an active member of the Grange for more than thirty years and is sending this appeal without knowledge or consent of Mr. Balcom.

Let's get together and elect an efficient official, an experienced business man and a brother Granger.

Respectfully yours,
A Brother Granger
